on the ground. It will be found that he will not only bring to bear his own on the person or persons, on whom h« fell but something more; and by far a much stronger and a many times more multiplied force would be his, that had got itself induced in him, quite unconsciously and without effort. It is therefore, a necessary concomitance from the above, that at the extreme end of the centripetal tension, the Dynamic properties material particles possessed, shall be of an extreme character also; so that the Will that should work from there, must necessarily be supposed to possess, extreme dynamic powers, which when compared to the one that worked at the surface level of the Earth, may safely be said to possess infinitely higher potentialities, to which the distances of time and space are as nothing practically. The earthly Will cannot be said to possess that power, though of course, modern science has contrived to minimise the distances of time and space somewhat, with the help of modern scientific inventions and designs.

But these scientific improvements are the results of strenuous efforts and long experience on the part of the earthly, whereas for the Celestial will, to
